ACQUIRED SKILLS

The University Diploma aims to develop:

- acquisition and improvement of Latin language skills; understanding of the language system and its evolution towards French;
- knowledge of ancient literature and Greco-Roman civilisation and culture.

YOUR FUTURE CAREER

Proficiency in Latin is essential for students who wish to specialise in disciplines that use sources in Latin, such as ancient, medieval or modern history, philosophy, humanities, languages, sciences, and so on. It's also a clear advantage for being admitted into certain Master's or PhDs in these fields.

The University Diploma in Latin also provides preparation for secondary school teachers to sit the Complementary Certification in Ancient Languages and Cultures (Latin option), in order to teach ancient languages and cultures in middle or high school.

BENEFITS OF THE PROGRAM

The University Diploma in Latin from UGE offers a comprehensive approach, combining language learning (in small groups for greater efficiency) with classes in literature and ancient history. The course is open to remote learning, making it accessible for working students.
