Bachelor's degree Foreign and Regional Languages, Literature and Civilisations Spanish

UFR de Langues, Cultures et Sociétés (LCS)

Bachelor's degree L1

TO GET THERE

General high school diploma, from any specialisation, or equivalent diploma for international students.

Minimum B1 level in Spanish; for international students, C1 in French.

ACQUIRED SKILLS

Acquire a high level of Hispanic language and culture. Master registers of expression. Spanish-French translation. Master linguistic tools to construct discourse in a range of contexts. Understand culture in the Spanish-speaking world (literature, civilisations). Draw on literary and cultural concepts to interpret documents of various kinds and from different periods (Middle Ages to modern day). Develop analysis and synthesis tools to document a subject and exploit data. Discuss topics with a critical perspective.

YOUR FUTURE CAREER

Prepare for recruitment exams for primary and secondary teaching, Master's in Careers in Teaching, Education and Training, agrégation teacher's exam. Competitive exam for the civil service. Master's: research, professional (specialised translation, international trade, tourism engineering, other Master's at UGE or elsewhere). Careers in communications, tourism, international relations, publishing and books, human resources, publicity (after work placements, "Atouts Jeunes" programme to support young people to find employment).

BENEFITS OF THE PROGRAM

The Spanish programme is unique in that it progressively provides students with a high discipline-specific level of Hispanic language and culture (overseas exchange), diversified skills through the programme, which includes work placements, and access to multidisciplinary classes through other courses (shared with foreign applied languages, humanities and English). Students are supported in creating their own career plan. Innovative pedagogy, platforms, special teaching projects (BQE).
