L3: French and EU students: submit application via the Université Gustave Eiffel website. Students from outside the EU: Campus France according to country of origin. Open to lifelong learning, Open to VAE

ACQUIRED SKILLS

This pathway equips students with both general knowledge in the subject area, common to other L3 pathways, as well as skills which are valued in a large number of industry sectors. Students are encouraged to develop their skills in analysing and critiquing documents and holding debates, particularly on digital issues. Emphasis is placed on developing skills in written and oral expression and mastering digital tools. Graduates of this training programme are proficient in a wide range of expertise: - knowledge on all historical periods; - concrete and rigorous methods in individual work (documentary research into digital humanities and field surveys); - an introduction to career plans; - expertise in terms of data analysis and summary communication.

YOUR FUTURE CAREER

According to the survey conducted by the OFIPE, 85% of students continue their studies after the Licence. 81% of those who enrolled on a Master's degree course obtained a two-year postgraduate qualification. Students following this pathway can pursue their studies with the Master's in Cultures and Professions of the Web or in Change Management and Sociology of Human Resources. They can choose other Master's programmes such as those offered at Gustave Eiffel: Master's in History, Master's in in Careers in Teaching, Master's in Territorial Cultural Development or Master's in Historical Diagnosis and Urban Planning.

BENEFITS OF THE PROGRAM

After a first multidisciplinary year (geography, history, sociology) and progressive specialisation from the 2nd year, the L3 Digital Societies and Cultures pathway offers general training in history, common to the other pathways, and in-depth studies in digital societies and cultures delivered by specialists in digital humanities.
