BACHELOR LITERATURE

Enseignement du 1er degré

BACHELOR L3

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Training program accessible after a L2 in French Literature and Language, a literary preparatory class (2 years) or possibly other second-year university level training programs (subject to acceptance of the application by the training program leader). Expected knowledge and skills: good level of writing and speaking, well-read, curious and open-minded, interested in pedagogical issues.

ACQUIRED SKILLS

Be proficient in spoken and written French; be very well-read; know how to analyse literary texts and understand them in their historical context; communicate orally and in writing in a foreign language (English); be curious and creative; prepare their career path in primary school teaching.

YOUR FUTURE CAREER

The aim of the L3 Primary education (MEEF) is to prepare students for a Master's in MEEF primary, with a view to taking the competitive recruitment examination for primary school teachers (CRPE). After the Licence, most students continue their studies with a Master's degree (2-year specialisation). In our university, as well as the Master's in MEEF primary (run by the ESPE), other Master's degrees remain open to applications from L3 MEEF students: - Master's in MEEF secondary (preparation of the CAPES); - Master's in LSCN (Research in French Language and Literature); - Master's in Publishing and the Paper and Digital Book industry; - Master's in Literature, Knowledge and Digital Culture; - Master's in Culture and Web Careers; - Master's in Corporate Communication and Social Media

Intended professional fields: primary school teaching; careers in the book industry, publishing and communication; writing Web content; journalism, etc.

BENEFITS OF THE PROGRAM

The training program provides students with the subject fundamentals (text analysis, through essay and commentary exercises, oral presentations on synthesis questions, etc.). The UPEM Licence in French Language and Literature features:

- an introductory course to human sciences (history, philosophy), which opens up gateways to other training programs;
- intensive modern language and Latin teaching included in the degree course;
- a high level of student supervision, monitored by an appointed tutor throughout their degree course;
- consideration of the link between literary studies and the labour market;
- strong coordination of French literature, comparative literature and linguistics courses. The MEEF specialisation courses prepare students from L3 onwards for the CRPE primary teacher recruitment examinations (mathematics, history-geography, teaching and phonology of French).
